RCV FAQs

What offices are elected with ranked choice voting?

Starting in 2021, New York City voters will elect the following offices with ranked choice voting during primary and special elections:

- Mayor
- Comptroller
- Public Advocate
- Borough Presidents
- City Council Member

Does it hurt my first choice?

No. Ranking other candidates does not affect your vote for your 1st choice.

Can I vote for the same candidate more than once?

You can, but your vote has more power if you rank. Ranking one candidate as your first, second and third choice is the same as leaving the second, third and other choices blank. You do not improve a candidate's chances of winning by voting for that candidate more than once.

How is a winner determined?

To start, all first choice votes are counted. If a candidate gets 50%+1 of first choice votes, they win. Otherwise, ballots are counted in rounds. In each round the candidates with the fewest votes are eliminated. Ballots for that candidate are counted for the voter's next choice. Rounds continue until the winner of the final 2 candidates.
